Boiler Energy Management Systems - Testimonials for multi-sites only.

Between 2008 and 2010 Vector supplied, installed and commissioned over 2000 of our boiler economizer units across the Tesco and Marks & Spencer estates.

In both cases, this work was procured via an intermediary company. Oaksmere Design was involved in a great number of Marks & Spencer sites and Matrix Sustainable Energy Efficiency was a common denominator for both of these prestigious customers.

Richard Greening of Oaksmere, M&S Account Manager said;

"I write to confirm that I, on behalf of Oaksmere Design, have utilized the services of Vector boiler controls on many sites across the Marks & Spencer group.

I have always found them professional and helpful and projects are always completed efficiently, in a timely fashion, and of good standard.

I would not hesitate to recommend Vector boiler controls."

Stuart Hutchinson of Matrix Sustainable Energy Efficiency, Strategic Account Director, said;

"We have introduced Vector to M&S and recently to Tesco for gas saving projects.

We have found the product to be very user friendly, not only for end users, but also for FM contractors and the like. Another reason we have supported the product is that it does not conflict with the BEMS controls that we support, it works in conjunction with rather than against, which I have seen on other products.

We had no issues with any of the installation standards; in fact the engineers who carried out the works highlighted some H&S safety issues on the boiler equipment that had been installed. If we had any issues Vector returned to site to resolve and the 3-year warranty; I don't believe you will get on other products.

Obviously the main reason for installing the equipment is to save on the gas consumption, we have found varying results from 8% through to 30%, and again this depends on the age of the boiler, the building type (office, leisure.)
M&S and Tesco would not install any equipment that does not return anything less than a 3 year ROI. I would not hesitate to recommend Vector boiler controls.”

During these projects, we successfully demonstrated our ability to contract manage to a very high standard whilst repeatedly improving upon the targets set by the client. In the case of Tesco, the majority of their 1,200 stores were included in one phase of work. All units were installed and commissioned within a 4-month period.

Whilst this set of testimonials relates specifically to some recent, large multi-site projects, the list is by no means exhaustive. We are very proud to boast project delivery for a broad and diverse client base over the past 16 years, some of which are detailed below;

- The Whitbread Group (approximately 800 sites)
- Royal Victoria Infirmary
- David Lloyd Tennis & leisure
- Mansfield Brewery
- British Steel PLC
- Leonard Cheshire homes
- The MOD
- Thistle Hotel group

We hope that our testimonials demonstrate that Vector Boiler Management Systems are an economic and viable energy saving solution. Please contact Vector on 0845 230 8838 if you require further information.
