Electrical Safety
In The Plastics Workplace
A BPF Health & Safety Seminar

Wednesday
26th September
2007

BPF Offices
Near Old Street
London

This seminar aims to provide delegates with an overview of the Electricity at Work Regulations and the recent additions to the 16th Edition Wiring Regulation. Furthermore, this seminar will provide a detailed assessment of the causes and dangers of static electricity, providing detailed case studies as to how the problems associated with static can be ameliorated.

This seminar will provide delegates with a better understanding of the various elements required to create and maintain an electrically safe working environment.

The seminar is a must for all ‘duty holders’.
