The UK plastics industry has a distinctive employment pattern, as an industry of small and medium sized firms it has a significant dependence on part time and temporary workers and is faced with skilled shortages it is increasingly seeking employees from abroad. Busy Directors in our industry are often stretched yet they carry strict legal responsibilities which they should be aware of.

This seminar will explain how you can avoid falling foul of new employment regulations whilst continuing to motivate your staff, protect yourself and your organisation with an understanding of the practical implications of employment legislation.

This seminar will look at the full life lifecycle of an employee from recruitment to leaving your business.
